Keynote Speech: Intercultural Learning

Prof. Dr. Roberto Ruffino - Italy

European Federation for Intercultural Learning

What do we mean by "Intercultural Learning"?

Intercultural learning is no longer an option, but rather a necessity. Due to mass migrations nations have become multicultural within themselves; nations with different languages and cultural heritages are merging together into larger political entities; commerce, communication and information are all globalised. As national education systems must prepare future citizens to live in a globalised world, they must move away from strictly national approaches and discuss how intercultural learning methodologies may impact the classroom of tomorrow.

Currently a Board Member of European Federation For Intercultural Learning and the Secretary General of the Intercultura Foundation in Italy, Prof. Ruffino has 40 years of experience in educational pupil exchanges, research and running conferences in the field of intercultural education expertising in the area of the pedagogical content of his work. He has initiated research (also for EU and UNESCO) and organised symposia in this field, and has written a number of books and articles on topics related to intercultural mobility and competences. He is a graduate from the University of Turin (PhD. in Philosophy). Recently Dr. Ruffino has been awarded an honorary doctoral degree in Education Science from the University of Padua for his work in intercultural education.

Keynote Speech: Future of Libraries

Prof. Dr. Yaşar Tonta - Hacettepe University - Turkey

"Opening Pandora's Box: Is There a Future for Libraries?"

Libraries have been one of the primary information-providing institutions throughout history. Sophisticated information organization and retrieval systems have been developed and implemented in the 20th century to serve library users well. Yet, libraries have been experienced unprecedented changes within the last two decades. Networking and the social media have only created a much more demanding clientele (so called "digital natives") but also radically transformed the technologies and processes by which libraries provide information services overall information eco-system has changed completely. For instance, would it be enough for libraries to move their collections and services to the network or to the cloud? Would published continue to see libraries as primary stakeholders in the near future? What kinds of strategies should libraries develop so as to become indispensable in the new information eco-system. Tonta will discuss the implications of some of these developments and speculate on libraries future and the future of libraries.

Prof. Dr. Serap Kurbanoğlu - Hacettepe University - Turkey

"The Importance of Information Literacy in the Future and The Future of Information Literacy Instruction"

Information literacy has long been recognized as a survival skill in a world where change is the main driving force. The true challenge, today, is having too much information, through numerous channels, in various formats and not all of equal quality. As a result of this, the importance of information literacy instruction will be increased. It will be inevitable to alter both the content and the mode of information literacy instruction in order to attract new generation and address their ever changing needs. In this presentation, Prof. Kurbanoğlu will discuss the importance of information literacy skills in the future and also the future of information literacy instruction.

Doctor in Information Studies from Sheffield University, UK, Prof. Dr. Kurbanoğlu a professor at the Department of Information Management of Hacettepe University, publishing and lecturing on systems analysis, project management, information technology as well as information literacy and lifelong learning. Prof. Kurbanoğlu acted as the national coordinator and the organizer of the UNESCO "Training the Trainers in Information Literacy" workshop held in Ankara in 2008. She is also the national coordinator of the IILS (International Information Literacy Survey) initiative and the project manager and content developer of the web-based information literacy instruction package (HUBO) developed for Hacettepe University. She is involved in numerous projects regarding information literacy and lifelong learning. As a board member of EUCLID, Prof. Kurbanoğlu has organized professional conferences both on national and international scales. She is the head of the program committee of the Information Management in a Changing World International Conference. Prof. Dr. Kurbanoğlu has numerous publications mainly on information literacy.

Ayşe Yüksel - Robert College - Turkey

How should school librarians and school teachers collaborate within the 21st century landscape? Conference Hall

In the changing world of education, the increase in the information sources, must raise the students' awareness and act as a guide to reliable and relevant choices. Collaboration with school librarians and teachers is essential to enrich the curriculum.

After graduating from Robert College (BA), A. Yüksel studied fine arts at Mimar Sinan University, Istanbul, (MA) and Library and Information Sciences at Dominican University (MLIS) Illinois, USA. A. Yüksel is currently working as a technology coordinator at Robert College Library Media Center. ### John Gallagher

John Gallagher has participated in mentor training for the Discover Your Voice programme, and worked on the ESU's Great Shakespeare Debate in Stratford-upon-Avon conducting workshops and judging debates with school pupils. As a member of the College Historical Society at Trinity College Dublin, he spent two years co-designing and teaching speaker development workshops for students, and teaching the fundamentals of argumentation and different formats of debate. He organised various debating competitions and school tournaments. Gallagher has judged in internal and intervarsity competitions in Ireland and the UK, as well as at school competitions, for a number of years. He won the Irish Times national debating competition in 2009. Gallagher is a writer and performer of comedy, currently with the Cambridge Footlights. A Betrayal of Penguins is an example of his work, which was well-received at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival in 2009.

Classroom 1

David Békési - Hungary

The role/importance of communication in the multicultural World

Overcoming cultural misunderstanding is only possible with the establishment of good communication. This workshop will include discuss; 1 - Ways of communication 2- How to communicate?

3- Misunderstandings and how they occur 4 - Learning from cultural differences

David Békési is a primary school teacher in Hungary. This is his fourth year of teaching in a bilingual (English-Hungarian) school as an English, art, literature and drama teacher. He teaches students with learning difficulties. Besides, he is a volunteer coordinator at his national AFS office. He can be described as an open minded, creative and flexible person. He is always ready to experience as much as possible and get to know new people.

Classroom 2

Ülkem Karakaş - FMV Işık Schools – Turkey

Bloomified Reading

Do you ever feel as though reading for pleasure is a relic of the 20th century? Reading seems to have lost its luster due to online media and video games, and making reading engaging, diverse and meaningful for students is a struggle many teachers face. In this session Ms. Karakaş aims to provide teachers with the opportunity to Bloomify reading lessons to maximize student understanding and potential in the ESL classroom.

Ulkem Karakas began her teaching career in Australia, where she was an educator for many years. She has worked with mixed ability students and has been involved in curriculum development as head of department. She has been teaching in Istanbul for the last 2 years, where she hopes to instill her passion for literature and learning to her EFL students.

Johanna Stracke - Germany

Intercultural Training – Short Demonstration and Exchange of Ideas

This workshop offers a short introduction to AFS Germany's intercultural trainings for high school-level students, including two exercises taken from those trainings. There will be a discussion about possible formats/contents for rewarding trainings, drawing from the experiences of the workshop participants. An exchange of experiences regarding AFS – school relations will be possible.

Johanna Stracke works in AFS Germany's Hamburg office as National School Relations Coordinator. AFS Germany is currently exploring different possibilities for developing new school cooperation and has developed a set of intercultural trainings for school classes to broaden its reach in the field of intercultural learning beyond the AFS program participants. Johanna looks forward to exchanging experiences in the field of intercultural learning and to developing new perspectives.

Ms. Ragan frequently led Teach for America teacher workshops on long-range educational planning and the use of computer systems in tracking student progress.

Classroom 2

Alessandra Scarselli - Italy

Ready to Learn

Teachers, educators, counselors, etc. can experience a creative approach to becoming part of an effective learning community, and building a collaborative, communicative and ready to learn group. Art, movement and verbalization are tools used in this workshop. The workshop is articulated in 3 parts. The first part's mission is to experience a way to get to know each other and become a group.

The second part is designed to appreciate and integrate the differences and characteristics of each group member through a creative way. The third will show how movement can be used to learn faster, more easily and joyfully a new language (memorize words, understand rules, pronunciation, etc.). The workshop includes Centered Person Counseling and Brain Gym® methods.

Alessandra Scarlessi is an Educational Kinesiology Instructor and INPP therapist who has specialised in learning disorders. She has said that she loves working as a learning facilitator to make learning a happy experience for harmonious growth. She works with children and young people, but with parents and teachers too as a T.Gordon Trainer because relationships play a big part in the learning process. As an art lover, she is a cellist and art therapist. She has expressed that she believes that the learning process, just as in art, is a body experience so she uses creative tools. Centered Person Counseling, especially Rogers and Gendlin, is her professional focus.

Classroom 3

Rafael Schmidt - EFIL - Germany

"Intercultural Communication as Foundation of Development of Education Systems"

"Education for all" is a movement which started in 1990 in the "Conference on Education for All". To guarantee education to all citizens of the world, existing educational systems have to improve. In the past many attempts to improve education systems in other countries, especially in the field of development aid, have failed. This workshop will show the main areas of improvement and how important intercultural communication is for the development of educational systems. At the end

Classroom 1

Valentina Lazareva - Anastasia Yudina - Natalia Ismailova - Olga Ursegova - Russia

Involving AFS students in research activities at school

This workshop will be a joint presentation of the Russian participants. The topics addressed will include: how to encourage AFS students interested in taking part in research together with Russian students, Intercultural Activities in Yaroslavl school 84 organized for and with AFS students at school, and also information about the dictionary which AFS students have produced using Russian, English, Italian, Udmurt and Thai languages.

Valentina Lazareva

Valentina Lazareva, Vice-Principal at Gymnasium # 6 Novocheboksarsk, Russia, an English teacher of superior category, with an experience of 24 years. As AFS volunteer at school she supports AFS students and their host families, interviews potential AFS students, represents AFS at community events, and builds AFS relationships with schools. She has expressed that working for AFS is both exciting and challenging, as there are always new perspectives, new beliefs and cultural differences to consider and learn.

Anastasia Yudina

An English teacher at school 84 in Yaroslavl since 2008, she organizes extra-curricular activities for students at school. She also teaches a course for British and American Studies. Anastasia has considerable volunteering experience for non-profit ecological organizations in NH, USA and in Siberia, Russia.

Natalia Ismailova

Natalia Ismailova works as a hosting coordinator in AFS Russia in Moscow. Last year she graduated from Moscow State Linguistic University as an English language teacher. During her studies at the university she worked as an English language teacher and as a volunteer and helped the regional director with hosting AFS students. She was then offered a position in the office of AFS Russia where she has been working for four years. She likes her job not only because she works with children, but also because she finds it very interesting to learn about different cultures and see how exchange students meet new cultures and break away from their stereotypes.

Olga Ursegova

Olga Ursegova has been a teacher of English for 25 years.

Classroom 2

Stefan Sibirsky - FMV Işık Schools - Turkey

Living in different cultures

What is it like to live in a different culture? How can one deal with cultural shock? Sibirsky will help us face the challenges of maintaining more than one language together with advantages and disadvantages of having a multicultural background.

Stefan Sibirsky worked as a Spanish teacher in the United States. He taught at the kindergarten, primary and middle school levels. Currently, Stefan is a kindergarten teacher at Işık Schools. He spent his childhood living in Ecuador and in the United States. As a university student, he also lived for a year in Argentina and for a year in Spain. He graduated with a double major in Spanish and International Studies.

Classroom 3

Katarina Krivokuca - Svetlana Kovacev - Serbia

Interculturalism in Serbia

This workshop will include a general presentation about how interculturalism has been supported in Serbia throughout history and its importance in the modern Serbia. The workshop will consist of several segments covering the different aspects of the issue of interculturalism. The final part will include how, as teachers, we teach our students about the importance of interculturalism and what we do to enable them to get to know different cultures.

Katarina Krivokuca

Katarina Krivokuca graduated from the faculty of philology in Belgrade in 1997. Since then, she has been working as a teacher of French in Secondary school in Ivanjica, a small town 200km away from Belgrade. Apart from French she speaks English, Spanish and a little Italian. Besides working as a teacher she was also involved in tourism as a tourist guide. At present, she is a volunteer in AFS Interkultura which she enjoys very much, gaining new experiences by working with young people from all over the world, passing on her knowledge to her students.

Svetlana Kovacev

Svetlana Kovacev is a High School Spanish teacher. Previously, she owned her own kindergarten for 12 years. She has expressed an appreciation for volunteering at AFS because it makes life and teaching more creative. It also gives students an opportunity to meet new friends from all parts of the world and become better and more tolerant. Besides that, they can have real conversations and practice the languages they learn at school.
